

Hanjoon Ryu

(Address to be updated)

May 8, 2026 (link to latest)

E. hanjoon.ryu@duke.edu / W. hanjoonryu.com

(‘Ryu’: a touch of ‘r’ followed by ‘you’)

---

|                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |                                                                              |
|--------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Academic Position | Singapore Management UniversityAssistant Professor of Finance , Lee Kong Chian School of Business                                                                                                                                                                   | starting July 2026                                                           |
| Education         | Duke UniversityPhD , EconomicsReferences : Adriano Rampini, Gregor Jarosch, S. “Vish” Viswanathan, Andrea Lanteri                                                                                                                                        | 2020 - 2026                                                                  |
|                          | Georgetown UniversityBachelor of Science , International Economics                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 2009 - 2012                                                                  |
| Research Area     | Corporate/macro finance (financial frictions, firm dynamics, financial intermediation)                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                              |
| Working Papers    | Dilutive Financing                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | ( link )                                                     |
|                          | Financing Innovative Assets: Endogenous Concentration in Startup Innovation                                                                                                                                                                                                    | ( link )                                                     |
| Teaching          | As instructor                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                                                                              |
|                          | Main Instructor / Co-instructorPhD Boot Camp: Math for EconomistsA course designed to provide incoming PhD students in economics with essential understandings of analysis, probability, optimization, linear algebra, etc.                                            | Duke UniversitySummer 2023 / Summer 2022( syllabus ) |
|                          | As teaching assistant                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                              |
|                          | Teaching AssistantBA 953 Corporate FinanceInstructors: Adriano Rampini, S. “Vish” ViswanathanFinance-PhD seminar course on corporate/macro finance theory. Conducted separate sessions for introduction to continuous-time methods in addition to regular reviews. | Duke UniversitySpring 2025 / Spring 2024                                 |
|                          | Head Teaching AssistantEcon 201 Intermediate Microeconomics IInstructor: Nelson SáOverall course management, preparing teaching materials for discussion sections.                                                                                                 | Duke UniversityFall 2024 / Fall 2023                                     |
|                          | Teaching AssistantEcon 706 Macroeconomic Analysis IIInstructors: Kyle Jurado, Andrea LanteriSecond half of the first-year macro sequence in the first-year PhD core curriculum.                                                                                    | Duke UniversitySpring 2022                                               |
|                          | Teaching AssistantEcon 601 Microeconomic TheoryInstructor: Huseyin YildirimA core course for the economics master program.                                                                                                                                         | Duke UniversityFall 2021                                                 |
|                          | Miscellany                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |                                                                              |
|                          | Department-sponsored TutorEconomics PhD core curriculum                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Duke University2021 - 2023                                               |

Tutored first-year economics PhD students on microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics in the PhD core curriculum.

Undergraduate Advisor

Duke University

General

2021 - 2025

Counseled undergraduate economics majors on course selection, Bachelor thesis, preparations for academic careers, etc.

Seminars & Presentations

2026: Stockholm School of Economics, LSE, MIT, Boston College, University of Chicago, Bank of Korea, Korea Development Institute, Singapore Management University, Pennsylvania State University

2025: FRB Richmond-UVA-Duke Macro Workshop (PhD Session), ESWC, FTG Summer Conference, FIRS (PhD Session), MFS Workshop (PhD Poster Session), AFA Annual Meeting (PhD Poster Session)

2024: EGSC

Services

Referee: Review of Economic Design  $\times 1$

Prior Industry Experience

Investment Banking Analyst

Samsung Securities (Seoul, Korea)

Alternative investment & real assets

2017 - 2020

Engaged in investment underwriting across a broad range of global infrastructure assets, structuring investment products to tailor to the needs of domestic institutional investors. Conducted all-round due diligence on assets, appraised and modified seller-provided assumptions, and assessed risk exposures.

Chartered Financial Analyst Program, completed

2016

Personal Information

Nationality: South Korea

(Name in Korean: 유한준)

First Lieutenant, Republic of Korea Air Force (2013 to 2016, honorably discharged)

Language: English (near-native), Korean (native), Japanese (basic conversational)

Intellectually fond of: theoretical physics, cosmology, math, philosophy/theology

Personally fond of: hiking, biking, walking, driving

Married, a daughter born in January 2021.